PRICE TWO CENTS

LOCAL GAS & ELECTRIC IN $10,000,000 DEAL CHIPPEWA PROPERTIES ARE PURCHASED TODAY

A deal by which the American Utilities Co., owner of the La Crosse Gas & Electric company, becomes the owner of many of the state's electric light, power and water power companies became known today when there was filed with the secretary of state at Madison, Wis., incorporation papers for a $10,000,000 company to be known as the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light & Power Co., of La Crosse.

The deal provides for the acquisition of all of the properties of the Chippewa Valley Railway Light and Power company, and their amalgamation with the La Crosse Gas and Electric company, under the new name.

Control Many Utilities
The Chippewa corporation controls properties at Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls, Ellsworth and Menominee. By this deal the Kelsey Brewer interests secure absolute ownership of all of the transmission lines and water-powers of the Chippewa Falls people.

The Chippewa company has 100,000 natural horsepower and is to furnish power for all of the utilities in the new company.

To Issue $2,800,000
The authorized capital stock of the La Crosse Gas & Electric Co. is $900,000 and of the $10,000,000 now to be authorized for the new concern only $2,800,000 will be issued at this time, the rest to be held in reserve for future purposes.

That the American Utilities people plan the acquisition of other utilities, in this state and in Minnesota, was verified today by Charles McPherson, Grand Rapids, Mich., attorney for the company.

To Hold in Reserve
"That is the purpose of the large issue," said McPherson. "The unissued stock will be held in reserve for future purchases and development."

Mr. McPherson filed the articles of incorporation at Madison this morning and today a special messenger from the La Crosse Gas and Electric company went there with the papers and the $9,110 filing fee.

The officers of the new company are Joseph H. Brewer, president; Blaine Gavette, secretary.

Bonds Are Bid Up
An intimating of a pending deal came some time ago when the bonds of the local company were bid up by operators whose identity was a mystery. Local bond holders seemed to be in ignorance of the meaning of the movement. The bonds advanced from .88 rapidly up to .95, some going as high as 1.02. All were taken up excepting one block of $25,000. It is now rumored that the bonds will be retired at 1.05.

Mr. A. W. Higgins, manager of the La Crosse Gas and Electric company, declines to discuss the deal.

MORRIS SPEECH SHOWS COST OF BAD GOVERNMENT

Lieutenant Governor at Sparta Shows Logical End of Capitalistic Domination

WOULD "RUSSIANIZE AMERICA"
Says Most Tyrannical Despotism Is Despotism of Avarice

BAD GOVERNMENT COST MORE
Tribute Exacted by Ruling Interests Is Shown by Recent Examples

SPARTA, Wis., June 20.—In a spirited address delivered before a cordial audience last night, Lieut. Gov. Tom Morris drew a comparison between the "cost of good government" and "the cost of bad government." The senatorial candidate declared that "the Russianizing of America" would have been the ultimate result of "uninterrupted capitalistic domination of government" and that "the most tyrannical despotism is the despotism of avarice."

Cost of Bad Organization
In part, Mr. Morris said: "Good government costs money, but bad government costs more. With a larger population than Minnesota, our government in 1913 cost about two millions less than that of Minnesota. We are more conscious of the cost of good government than bad, because our tax notice informs us of the former and we pay it directly; the cost of bad government comes upon us silently, like a thief in the night; it robs us treacherously, meanly. During the 'good old days' we paid tribute to bad government, in secret rebates, impure food cheats, excessive public utility rates, disproportionate taxes by which corporations shirked just burdens at the expense of the average citizen, long hours and short pay to working people who were denied protection from the last great expense of death in factories to work in which was perilous."

"Do you know what bad government is? I will tell you, I point to Lawrence, to Hecla, to Trinidad, and Ludlow. I cite you the starvation wages, the hired thugs, the armored trains bought by state taxes, the murdered women and children."

"Would you men of Wisconsin like to pay the price of such government?"

Aim of Reactionaries
"This state was drifting that way when Senator Robert M. La Follette organized the progressive movement some fifteen years ago. That is what we have been fighting. That is what we have prevented. It is in that direction that those who head the reactionary program in Wisconsin would lead you."

"Will you go? I think not. When the pioneer progressives of Wisconsin about face at the command of such leadership the tears of the Goddess of Liberty will extinguish the torch that enlightens the world."

WEST SALEM, Wis., June 20.—(Special.)—G. W. Dudley, West Salem, became the high bidder of the sale when he purchased "Oakdale Carissa of Sicamore" for $300. A great army of buyers and breeders, representing New York, Chicago and a dozen northwest states, is present. The meeting is proving a big success in a business way, and is most interesting to visitors. In the far lands of the pure bred stock business, it is learned from visiting buyers, West Salem looms up a bigger figure than La Crosse. Again the "prophet is not without honor, save in his own country."

The Western Guernsey Breeders' association held its summer meeting here yesterday, and made more extensive plans to further the popularity of the breed and to get some interesting and valuable data on the care of the animals.

This Is Best District
Guernsey breeders from practically all parts of the United States were present for the meeting. A visit to La Crosse county farms, where a specialty is made of the breed, was the business of yesterday morning. "The

FARMING A SCIENTIFIC BUSINESS

Advice Is Given as to How to Get the Best Results and Make the Most Money

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
WEST SALEM, Wis., June 20.—Dairying is the best means a farmer can use to improve his soil. It is the best means he can use to secure a suitable rotation of crops and to secure a profitable income.

So Professor C. P. Notgard, the new superintendent of Farmers' Institutes in Wisconsin, told members of the Western Guernsey Breeders' association at West Salem yesterday.

Farming a Science
"Farming is now a scientific business," he declared, "and a farmer must study it and work his land from that viewpoint. A farmer's soil is the same as his bank. Everything that he puts there stays in—the same as it does in any other business."

"Dairying in Wisconsin has been developed to a science. It means money for the farmer at all times. In districts where they raise but one crop the farmer has a large sum of money at one time. Then, towards the end of the year he has nothing. It is true in every instance. In dairying money is always coming in and no farmer is as well off or as wealthy as the dairy farmer."

Diversity of Crops
"In dairying it is necessary to have a diversity of crops. This is what builds up the soil and is what spells prosperity."

Alfalfa Is Best
"Alfalfa" was the topic of Professor Notgard's talk.

He says that this is the best crop a farmer can raise, and gives his reasons for his statement. "The amount

FUNERAL TO BE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Body to Lie in State at Congregational Church from 2 to 3 O'Clock; Interment at Oak Grove

The life of John M. Holley, Sr., was a source of inspiration to young men.

John M. Holley, Sr., aged 69, president of the State Bank of La Crosse, pioneer La Crosse banker, veteran of the civil war and prominent in business, social and religious affairs in the city, died at his home, 230 North Eighth street, at 9 o'clock last night. Death followed a stroke of paralysis at 4:30 in the afternoon, as he was preparing for a trip to New York, there to join the board of managers of the National Soldiers' homes of which he was a member. Mr. Holley had spent a portion of the day at his summer home at Eagle bluff and, returning in the afternoon, transacted business at the bank and then went to his home to prepare for the eastern trip.

He was in his room at the time of the stroke. The first warning of the attack was when his son Horace saw him stagger. He rushed to his side and caught him as he was falling.

Doctors were hastily summoned and worked over him until his death. Their efforts were unavailing and he passed away without regaining consciousness.

Funeral Sunday
The funeral of Mr. Holley will be held from the First Congregational church, Seventh and Main streets, at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the Rev. Carlos C. Rowlinson officiating. The body is to lie in state at the church from 2 p. m. until 3:30 p. m. for friends to view the remains.

The active pallbearers will be W. H. Tarbox, Alfred James, T. H. Spence, George W. Burton, F. P. Hixon, J. P. Bird, E. M. Wing, John Brindley.

The honorary pallbearers will be A. Hirschheimer, F. A. Copeland, W. L. Osborne, E. D. Loomis, T. B. Lawrence, I. H. Moulton, S. Y. Hyde, L. C. Colman, Geo. E. Mariner, J. S. Medary.

The Wilson-Colwell post, G. A. R., of which Mr. Holley was a member, will have charge of the services at the grave in Oak Grove cemetery.

Prominent in Church

Mr. Holley held the distinction of having served as superintendent of the Congregational Sunday school for forty years, resigning but recently when he was given the title of superintendent emeritus.

He was a trustee of the Congregational church for many years and also a trustee of the La Crosse public library.

Mr. Holley took an active interest in charitable work and was one of the supporters of the Associated charities. He was instrumental in the establishment of the City Mission and that institution had his hearty support.

As president of the State Bank, Mr. Holley was one of the prominent representatives of financial interests in the state. His rise to the position he held was by gradual develop-

LOCAL LEADERS URGE AYLWARD FOR GOVERNOR

E. J. Kneen Takes Petition to Madison Man Signed by Leading La Crosse County Democrats

HUSTING FOR U. S. SENATE RACE

Withdrawal of the Madison Leader Would Make Mayville Man Progressive Democrat Choice

For governor—John A. Aylward.

For U. S. senator—Paul O. Husting.

A petition asking John A. Aylward, Madison, to withdraw his candidacy for the democratic nomination for the United States senate, and become a candidate for the nomination for governor, was signed by many leading democrats in La Crosse county and was presented to Mr. Aylward by Assemblyman E. J. Kneen at Madison today.

This is recognized as a serious effort to bring out a strong progressive against Judge John C. Karel, the reactionary whose candidacy has gained considerable headway.

Should Aylward accede to the plea of the progressives, talk of Melvin E. Hoyt of the Milwaukee Daily News for governor, would probably cease. His acceptance would also mean that Senator Paul Husting of Mayville would become the accepted progressive democratic candidate for the United States senate.

The petition expresses deep faith in the capacity and integrity of Mr. Aylward, assures him of support, and enumerates the reasons why the step should be taken.

The signers in La Crosse county are:

The above is what Chairman C. H. Crownhart of the Wisconsin Industrial commission told employers who appeared at the city hall yesterday.

BOLD CON MEN TRIM BADGERS

CHICAGO, June 20.—Members of the Wisconsin society of Chicago, who attended the society's annual circus and fete at the South Shore Country club last night, were trying to figure out today why Illinois, and not their native commonwealth, was given the title "sucker state."

Oriental dancers, fat ladies and living skeletons took part in the society's annual circus. The ex-natives of Wisconsin thought the circus idea perfectly carried out when two three-shells-and-the-pea men put in an appearance and they carelessly played ten dollar bills over the green board in the belief that they were to get the money back.

A reporter thought he recognized one of the shell men as the real thing and suspected they had "batted in." While he was phoning the police, the pea artists disappeared with about $300.

ERUPTION LIKE RINGWORM ON FACE

Covered with Watery Blisters. Itched and Burned Terribly. Little Rest at Night. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Entirely Cured.

Lock Box 35, Maurice, Ia.—"In the spring of 1911 our little daughter, age five years, had a breaking out on her lip and part of her cheek that we took for ringworm. It resembled a large ringworm, only it differed in that it was covered with watery blisters that itched and burned terribly, made worse by her scratching it. Then the blisters would break through and let out a watery substance. She was very cross and fretful while she had it and had very little rest at night. When the eruption was at its worst the teacher of the school sent her home and would not allow her to attend until the disfigurement of her face was gone.

"We tried to kill it by applying but without result. It would seem to get better and then broke out again. I then wrote and received a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. We washed the sore with the Cuticura Soap and applied the Cuticura Ointment and they gave instant relief, so we bought more. It gradually grew better. We kept on using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in three or four months the child was entirely cured." (Signed) Mr. Henry Prins, Oct. 22, 1912. Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

COLLEGE WORK AT ST. MARY'S SCHOOL

New Addition Is to Be Built for Use of College Department at Prairie du Chien

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES HELD

Class of Eleven Is Graduated from the Institution with Impressive Exercises

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis., June 20.—A new addition to St. Mary's college is to be built this summer. The college course is to be added to supplement the academic and the new building is to be used exclusively for college work.

St. Mary's college is a splendid monument to the sisters of Notre Dame who have had charge of it since it was founded forty-two years ago. The campus of twenty-five acres is beautifully located on the banks of the Mississippi on the site of Fort Crawford. The land was given by John Lawler of Prairie du Chien in 1872 and in that year a little school of three rooms was started by several of the sisters of Notre Dame from the mother house at Milwaukee. From that small beginning the academy has developed into a strong institution with an attendance of 140 the past year. Some of the sisters who were with the school in its early struggles are still there. The campus was adorned some years ago by a fine monument to Father Marquette, the discoverer of the Mississippi at Prairie du Chien.

The commencement exercises, the college closed Thursday with the graduating exercises. The week's program had included a number of delightful features, among them a luncheon in Moonlit Pavilion, a class drive, the pretty ceremony of planting a class maple on the site of old Fort Crawford and a pleasant reunion of the many alumnae who had flocked back to their alma mater. The class day exercises held Monday evening were of high order, as was also the production of the one-act comedy, "A Woman's Purse," given by the Amphion Dramatic club, and the operetta, "The Japanese Girl," rendered by the Schubert Song club Tuesday evening.

The commencement exercises were attended by a large audience of invited friends. A program of excellent music, comprising a chorus, a selection by the College orchestra, and piano, harp and violin solos, was interspersed with a pretty dialogue, "The Panama Hat and the Mexican Sombbrero," an essay, "The Women of Scripture," by Irene Spawen, the class valedictorian, and the story of Erin told to the music of Erin's harps. The latter was a wonderfully attractive number. Ireland's melodies were played on the national instrument by three of the graduates, Celia Christenson, Gretchen Mayer and Cecilia Wolter, while the "Mist Maids of Erin" in costume told the story in pantomime and Helen Dwyer interpreted.

Colette M. Gossman and Celia O. Christenson were awarded honors in music and Agnes M. Corey and Erma L. Otto in art.

The class roll included eleven: Elizabeth D. Barnum, Lucille M. Carroll, Celia G. Christenson, Agnes M. Corey, Helen M. Dwyer, Colette M. Gossman, Charlotte H. Hodapp, Wilma A. Rosenau, Helene M. Maline, Erma L. Otto, Irene A. Spawen.

HUDSON STEAMER SINKS

YONKERS, N. Y., June 20.—Smashing into a stone barge in the Hudson, the river steamer Tourist, from New York with fifty passengers, went to the bottom early today. The tug towing the barge rescued the Tourist's passengers. All have been accounted for but two, but they are believed to have gained the shore.

Biblical Proof.

An old negro, who was the only Baptist in the neighborhood, always "stuck up for his own faith," and was ready with a reason for it, although he was unable to read a word. This was the way he "put 'em down": "Yo' kin read, now, kaint yo'?" "Yes." "Well, I s'pose yo' read de Bible, kaint yo'?" "Yes." "Yo' read 'bout John de Baptis', kaint yo'?" "Yes." "Well, yo' never read 'bout John de Mefodis', did yo'?"

Words and Thought.

"The gift of words" is sometimes spoken of disparagingly by "practical" men. But words are merely the symbols of ideas, and nobody really has the gift of words who has not also the gift of thought. Before one can talk with power he first must be able to think. There never was a great speaker who was not also a real thinker.

The Wrong Chaperon

By JEAN DICKERSON

Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"Now, Eve, you will keep a watchful eye on Patty?" urged Mrs. Wellington's sister with a swift glance toward the tennis courts where Patricia Lees was playing a vigorous game with Hampton Sheppard.

"I suppose by that, Susan, you mean I am to ward off Jimmy Merton and leave a clear field for the eligibles," laughed Eve Wellington. Mrs. Lees flushed. "Well, Eve, Jimmy and Patty were made for each other, you may say, but I wish Jimmy were better off—oh, you needn't smile in that superior way, Eve. If you had ever possessed a child of your own you would understand my feelings. I don't know why it is—but it seems a fact that widows, especially young and pretty ones, don't seem to consider the practical side of matrimony."

"Experience should have taught them better, Susan."

"I should say so."

"And at the same time perhaps they have learned that marriages without love is a cold and hopeless failure."

Mrs. Lees sighed. "Of course we all know that Billy Wellington was a good catch and that mother rather pushed you into it. Still, who could have suspected that he would drink himself to death within two years of his marriage and—"

"Billy Wellington is dead and the past died with him, Susan," reminded Billy's widow, gently. "Now, about Patty and Jim; they are in love with each other. Jim has enough to support Patty. Why, oh, why, Susan Lees, should I, as temporary chaperon, blight their young happiness in the interest of some other man, even if he has a few more dollars?"

"Because I am a practical woman and I know that money outlasts love in a cottage."

Eve laughed. "How can you know anything about it, you ridiculous woman, when you and Robert Lees have been as poor as church mice all your lives and happier than most people?"

"That is different," said Susan doggedly. "I want to spare Patty all the sordid cares of poverty—well genteel poverty! I have worked hard and I've been happy, Eve, but don't want my daughter to drudge in the same way. If she marries Hampton Sheppard—"

A red rose dropped from Eve's fingers, and when she arose from stooping to reclaim it, all the color had drained from her lovely face.

"Go on Susan," she said evenly. "I would dismiss any fears for her future happiness. He is clever, distinguished, of fine character, and so far as worldly goods are concerned, he can take care of Patty."

"He is older," murmured Eve, looking across the tennis courts where Sheppard was darting about with all the agility of youth. But Hampton Sheppard was forty-five and Patty Lees was twenty.

"Not too old," defended Mrs. Lees, with a sharp look at her sister. Then she was silent for awhile, re-viewing in her rather dull, plodding way, incidents that had happened fifteen years ago, before Eve's brilliant marriage to Billy Wellington; it had been a silent understanding in the family that if Hampton Sheppard had not been in Russia at the time, Eve would never have married Billy. As it was, Susan Lees remembered with a little thrill of interest just how Hampton had looked when they broke the news of Eve's wedding to him.

And now he was stopping at the same summer resort hotel, and Susan Lees was hoping that he might fall in love with Patty and marry her.

At this moment the hotel bus came honking up the drive and Patty came running like a deer across the lawn to kiss her mother good by.

"I won't forget, Susan," said Eve. Mrs. Lees leaned from the omnibus, everything else forgotten in her maternal anxiety.

Remember, Eve, I leave Patty in your care! Keep her in sight, dear, and remember, I want her to be happy!"

"I will remember," said Eve gravely.

The omnibus was filled now and moved away. Patty waved her hand until her mother was no longer visible. Then she turned troubled gray eyes on her aunt.

"Aunt Eve," she said abruptly, "have you seen Jimmy Merton today?"

Eve thought intently. "I saw him putting off in his motor boat."

Patty's hands flew to her heart. "Aunt Eve," she gasped painfully, "Jimmy asked me to marry him and mother made me refuse; he was very angry and went off saying he didn't care a hang what became of him."

"He will come back," soothed Eve. "He was hurt. I suppose he thought you loved him, and finding out the truth hurts, Patty dear."

"Aunt Eve, I do love him!" sobbed the girl against her shoulder. "Only mother is so forbidding, and I thought I was sure, he would come back again and that some day it would be alright. What shall I do if I never see him?"

"You will see him and be very happy," said Eve quietly.

At that moment Hampton Sheppard came up to them.

"My adversary has fled," he said ruefully. "Mrs. Lees has just gone to town for a few days. Oh, Mr. Sheppard, I wonder if you wouldn't take us for a spin in your boat. Patty and I are dying for a breath of salt air." Eve's manner was warm and friendly as it always had been.

"Certainly, I shall be delighted. I will meet you at the pier in ten minutes."

Eve and her niece were handed into Mr. Sheppard's trim motor boat and presently the Circe had pointed her dainty nose toward the outer bay and was rushing through the blue water.

"Where shall we go?" Sheppard asked Eve.

Eve's eyes skimmed the bay. "Tidal island," she decided, and Patty drew a sharp breath of relief.

In her heart Eve did not believe that Jimmy Merton would do such a cowardly act as destroy himself because of a disappointed love. In the first sting of defeat the boy might have made rash vows, but the Merton were made of stronger stuff than that.

But Patty, her heart in her eyes, looked eagerly for some sign of the long rakish gray motor boat belonging to Jimmy Merton.

Sheppard knew that the two women were anxious and fearful, but he did not ask for their confidence.

As they neared Tidal Island something detached itself from the surrounding gray rocks and moved. It was the gray racing boat, its anchor tossed over a rock.

Sheppard saw the boat, but he made no comment. They landed on a flat rock and Patty looked appealingly at Eve.

Eve smiled. "Go and look for him dear," she whispered. "I am sure you will find him safe."

She watched the girl climb the grassy slope and disappear at the top, then she turned to find Hampton Sheppard studying her face with sombre eyes.

Eve shivered a little with the chill of impending duty. Fate had willed it that she should be the one to break the news to her old lover that

Patty loved Jimmy Merton. She had thought Sheppard's attentions to Patty merely those of an older man for a young and merry playmate until Patty's mother had voiced the belief that Hampton was in love with the girl.

"You are cold," said Hampton quickly and he picked up his blue flannel coat and tossed it around her shoulders.

"What is the matter, Eve?" he asked. "You are in trouble."

"It is Patty," stammered Eve. Then she told him all, not daring to look into his face.

"It is well," His voice broke the silence, calmly. "I can't see what objections Susan can possibly have to Jimmy Merton; he's one of the nicest boys I know; and anyone can see that they are madly in love with each other."

Eve gasped faintly. "Oh, Hampton—and do you not mind?"

He laughed shortly. "Mind? Why should I mind—except to envy them their happiness? There is only one girl I ever loved, ever could love, ever will love, and I think she has an explanation to make to me—hasn't she, Eve?"

Eve decided that she had, and she told the old, bitter story, with her head on her lover's breast.

Patty Lees, having discovered Jimmy in gloomy but safe meditation on the summit of Tidal Island, quickly dispelled the gloom and after a long interval of blissful happiness the young lovers went down the slope to join Mrs. Wellington and Hampton Sheppard.

"Oh, look!" gasped Patty, suddenly catching Jimmy's arm.

Jimmy looked, gasped, chuckled. "What does it mean?" wondered Patty.

"Means they're in love with each other, same as we are. I say Patty, it's a good joke on your aunt Eve! Fine chaperon, she is, eh?"

Patty nodded. "I am glad," she said simply.

The Secret of Health is Elimination of Waste

Every business man knows how difficult it is to keep the pigeon holes and drawers of his desk free from the accumulation of useless papers. Every housewife knows how difficult it is to keep her home free from the accumulation of all manner of useless things. So it is with the body. It is difficult to keep it free from accumulation of waste matter. Unless the waste is promptly eliminated the machinery of the body soon becomes clogged. This is the beginning of most human ills.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

Assists the stomach in the proper digestion of food, which is turned into health-sustaining blood and all poisonous waste matter is speedily disposed of through the channels. It makes men and women clear-headed and able-bodied—restores to them the health and strength of youth. Now is the time for your rejuvenation. Send 50 cents for a trial box of this medicine.

Send 31 one-cent stamps for Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser—1008 pages—worth $2. Always handy in case of family illness.

AS TO WHO "MADE"

SYDNEY ANDERSON

The result of the congressional primary in the First Minnesota district may serve to jar public faith in Ole Levang's blushing confession as to who "made" Sydney Anderson. If not, it will be admitted that he "built better than he knew."

WOMEN'S CLUBS

FOR SUFFRAGE

In the remarkable development of the woman suffrage movement in America, no step has been of more importance than the indorsement of suffrage by the general federation of Women's clubs at the Chicago convention. The bars kept up for decades against suffrage discussion were at last let down, and they will stay down.

The controversy at the convention will probably be repeated in thousands of women's clubs in every section of the country. The delegates returning home will face questions and arouse debates. Clubs will declare for the ballot unequivocally or will break up through inability to agree. Nearly every women's organization is likely to become either a new center of suffrage propaganda or a scene of dissension over this big question; and no matter which occurs, the discussion will go on like the fireworks bombs that burst into smaller bombs in a constantly increasing series of explosions.

It was inevitable that the women's clubs should take such action sooner or later. They themselves, through their absorption and development of the most intelligent and energetic women of the country, have done more than any other factor to create the feminine state of mind which is now crystallizing in a demand for suffrage and in a pretty well defined feminist program. The women have been preparing, all these years, to play a big, new part in the world's affairs when their time should come;
and now, when the time is almost ripe, they are working into the role by easy and natural degrees.

BEAUTIFUL AS THE BIRTH OF A CHILD

There is sadness, but no terror, in the death of men like John M. Holley, Sr. Christian, gentleman, patriot; soldier in his own youth and "boy scout" with his boys and their boys in his riper years; gentle, considerate, wholesome—Mr. Holley was a man.

La Crosse will miss Mr. Holley; his family will sorrow and relatives and acquaintances will grieve. But into their sorrow must come the reassuring reflection that in this man-dant field of preparation for the Eternal Fellowship the beloved relative, friend and fellow citizen lived a life of ripening spirituality, and it was no stranger who, slipping quietly away from us, knocked on the Pearly Gates.

The perfect life—perfect within the limitations of human frailty—is beautiful to contemplate. The growth of body, mind and soul, blending in lovable personality, ripens into spirituality as the mortal merges with the immortal. There is no sudden disaster, no straining, no shock. The spirit, enriched for its new environment, leaves the outgrown tenement. It is not death, it is transition.

FIRST CLASS MEN
IN MINNESOTA

The overwhelming victory of Hon.
Sydney Anderson, in the First Minnesota congressional district, is a splendid testimonial to that astute young lawyer's worth as a congressman and an equally gratifying endorsement of the progressive policy he has pursued. Give Mr. Anderson one-half the years of service accorded to the politically-late James A.
Tawney, and in addition to the advantage of truly representative membership, the First district will miss nothing of its prominence in the legislative councils of the nation.

Another nomination the merit of which will be recognized as well by La Crosse county people as by those who undoubtedly are to become his constituents, is that of Sam A. Rask, named by the republicans for state senator in Waseca and Steele counties. Those who know him know that Mr. Rask will be no boss' man, but a people's man; that he will be staunch, true, intelligent and forward-looking in every phase of his legislative effort.

Men of this type are making legislation, state and national, express that "will of the people" which "shall be the law of the land."

ANNUAL BOAT RACE

CHICAGO, June 20.—Starting at five minute intervals, forty-three boats, representing four different yacht clubs, got away today in the twenty-third annual race to Michigan City and return. Later in the day, twenty power boats were to get away in a race over almost the identical course. The four clubs represented were the Columbia Yacht club, the Jackson Park, Lincoln Park and Chicago Yacht club.

WHITE LEAVES FOR DENVER

CHICAGO, June 20.—Charley White, who broke into fame by licking Willie Ritchie, is taking no chances with the Denver altitude in his coming match at Denver with Stanley Yoakum. White will leave for Denver next Wednesday and spend three weeks getting acclimated.

Quips and Cranks
and Wanton Wiles

The Neighbor

My neighbor who resides next door
Forsakes his downy couch at four,
Most cheerfully to mow his lawn,
And rouses all of us at dawn.

My neighbor has a daughter who Takes singing lessons as girls do.
She practices the morning long—
Six weeks she's sung the same old song.

My neighbor has a raft of boys
Who makes a most astounding noise
They play baseball and "one old cat,"
For racket there's some class to that.

My neighbor has three charming maids,
And you should hear the serenades
The young men sing beneath the bower,
It doesn't matter at what hour.

A pianola, too, has he,
He hits it up in greatest glee;
He starts to playing it at eight;
Till midnight he keeps up his gait.

My neighbor has a kid who yells
From midnight on in frequent spells;
He keeps on yelling until dawn;
Then dad gets up and mows the lawn.

Performance is continuous,
But still the neighbor next to us
Is one of many on the pike,
For neighbors are most all alike.

Had to buy Soap

"Well, sonny," said the patient druggist to the small boy who had been in the store for half an hour, eagerly eyeing the candy counter.
"do you want to buy some candy?"
"Course I want, but I can't—mother sent me to buy soap."

Traditional Courtesy

Going to the blackboard, the teacher wrote the sentence: "The horse and the cow was in the stable."
"Now, children," she said, "there is something wrong with that sentence. Who can correct it and tell why it is wrong?"

One small boy waved his hand excitedly and the teacher called upon him.

"It's wrong," he said with importance. "It ought to be the cow and the horse was in the stable, because ladies always ought to go first."

Tales of the Parson

Some good "parson stories" are told in William T. Palmer's "Old Yarns of English Lakeland." In one parish the people when they arrived at the church door found it shut. The clerk blandly announced:
"This is to give notice that there will be no service in this church for a matter of four weeks, as the parson's best hen has setten herself in the pulpit."

Work for an Artist

ely picturesque," said the artist.

it no harm," replied Farmer Clover-

He was an inquisitive old gentleman, and he wandered about the deck with a freedom that threatened to bring down the wrath of the observant skipper.

He carried on a one-sided conversation with "the man at the wheel," and did all the things he ought not to have done, and the features of the skipper were not good to look upon.

Then in the blissful innocence of his heart, he actually approached the captain himself. It was inevitable that there should be something said, but it was the little old gentleman who proceeded to take the first innings.

He told how his great-grand-mother's second cousin had been a sailor man, and prattled of storms that carried all before them.

"In the last emergency, I have heard," he continued, "it was customary to throw overboard the whole of the cargo to lighten the ship.
Did you ever do that captain?"

"Well, yes," admitted the skipper, with surprising cheerfulness. "But only as a last resource. I never waste my cargo until I've used up my passengers! They go first."

Then the little old gentleman had a thoughtful fit that kept his tongue quiet for two hours.—Pearson's

O' Jamestown

"Down with your weapons!"
roared Smith. "And every man of you ashore!"

For a moment it looked as if they had more than half a mind to try their strength with us, but they must have realized that we held them wholly at our mercy and that at a word from Smith we would have killed the half of them at least.
Wingfield spoke with some little show of spirit.

"We have six men here, you have eight, Captain Smith; we would fain have gone without you, but so be it."

"Gone whither?" thundered
Smith.

"To England. Now we offer you the chance we have made. The pin-nace is ready victualled for the voyage, in half an hour or less the tide will turn; it remains but to slip our moorings and drop down the river, leaving this fever and plague-stricken spot."

No doubt, judging Smith by himself, he really thought he could strike this bargain with him.

"What?" cried Smith, his honest blue eyes blazing. "Leave the Sick oddie?" By God, sir, you shame me by such a proposal! I will not go—nor shall you—for I will sink the pinnace first."

But Wingfield turned quickly to the rest of us.

"Farraday, Cassen, Robinson—and you, Emery, will you stay here to die, when I offer you this chance of life?"

For answer we spit out curses at him, and I know not how near death he was, such was our rage with him. I think he understood then the complete frustration of his plans, and that he was forever shamed in the eyes of all honest men, for he did not speak again. Yet Kendall and Archer must bluster some to show their manhood, but John Smith quieted them by one of his hot glances.

Now, for the second time he ordered all ashore, and Wingfield, after a moment of irresolution, rose from his seat and, very white of face and shaking like one with the palsy, went from the cabin, with his gallants trailing after him.

The news of the president's attempt to steal the pinnace reached the fort in advance of us, and as we entered the stockade we found there the wildest turmoil. Men, half naked and so weak they were scarce able to stand, were arming themselves; with what idea I could not tell; and as we came through the great gate Wingfield and his friends were saluted by a maniacal roar from those fever and famine-stricken wretches that was ghastly to hear
—and the cry went up:

"Call the Council and deal with the traitors."

Martin and Ratcliffe were both sick, but the alarm had brought forth with the rest, and they were hot too, for a speedy judgment on Wingfield, though I own they were vain, empty men, little better than him they were now so forward in denouncing.

The company's clamor that the traitors should be dealt with at once was so insistent that an extraordinary meeting of the Council was called on the spot; and as many as could crowded into Wingfield's cabin,
where the Council went into session.
In ten minutes time Wingfield and Kendall were deposed from all offices and Ratcliffe elected president. For further punishment, Wingfield's private stores of beef, oatmeal, strong waters, and what not, were confiscated for the general good, and he was ordered to henceforth draw his share from the common kettle. I think Wingfield had looked for worse disciplining than this, however, for when he was brought before his judges he was utterly humbled, so that I turned my face away, for it was a shameful thing to see a man cringe and weep with the tears running down into his beard.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

The night was far spent when I bethought me again of Marshall, for I was in such happy conceit because of the share I had in Win-gfield's overthrow that I had done a deal more talking than was necessary to the condition in life to which an evil fate had assigned me. But at last remembering the sick man,
I tore myself away from the seductions of my sudden popularity and hastened to his cabin.

I found him in a sort of a delirium, as I judged, for he seemed

The most economical of wholly unconscious of my presence;

even when I gave him water to drink
he stared up into my face, his eyes all unseeing, while detached sentences came from his lips; but now he spoke altogether in French, of which I knew not one word.

It was the grey of the morning when he fell into his first sleep. He ceased the restless turning of his head from side to side on his hard pillow, and no longer muttered nor raved. I deemed now that I might with safety leave him, but first sought to make more easy for his head the roll of clothing that served him for a pillow, and which had become disarranged by his constant turning. As I did this, very gently, so as not to disturb him, some small object slipped through my fingers, and fell to the floor. Stooping, I picked it up. It proved to be a miniature painted on ivory and set about with precious stones; quite involuntary and not pausing to consider, as I stepped to the door and brought the miniature to the light. It was a woman's face that was painted on the ivory and at first sight of that face my heart stopped beating and a cry escaped my lips, for the face was Mary's.

I would have staked my life on this, but presently as I gazed I realized that it was, and was not Mary.
There were the same dark eyes, the same clear skin, and delicately chiseled features, but there was a difference, too. I do not know how long I stood with the morning light flashing on the pictured face, surrounded by its circle of blazing gems, but a sudden movement on the part of the sick man brought me back to earth—Virginia—James Town—the hut.

I turned from the door with a mighty shrinking of heart, Marshall had roused to consciousness, and there was no mistaking the look in those burning eyes that were fixed upon me.

"Damn you, sir!" said he in a choking voice. "Who are you, and Big Difference.

A learned bishop was once taken to task by some of his denominational brethren on the charges of exhibiting conceit of himself at variance with the spirit of humility. "It is not conceit," replied the bishop, with that preponderous bearing that silenced opposition. "It is not conceit, brethren.
It is the consciousness of superiority."

Jumping the Traces.

It seems to be normal in people to crave abnormal experiences. The trouble with taking a fling, as one sometimes terms a light indiscretion, is that it coarsens the timber and fiber of personality. Growth is the only thing worth while in experience, and folly is never a direct road to any goal.—Los Angeles Times.

Real Test.

A well-behaved man never knows whether his wife loves him or not.
But let him commit a crime, and she will not only proclaim her affection, but she will stand by him in a manner to attract the attention and admiration of the civilized world.—To-neka Capital.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN WESTBY

Mrs. O. T. Paulson of Westby, formerly a resident of the North side, and during her residence at Westby a frequent visitor of the North side, died last Monday evening at her home in Westby. The funeral was held Thursday afternoon from the Lutheran church in Westby, Rev. R. Halvorson officiating. Interment took place in the Coon Valley cemetery. Mrs. Paulson is survived by two sons, Hjalmer and Edwin; two sisters, Mrs. E. D. Jaeger and Mrs. P. T. Paulson, and two brothers, Sever and Hans Severson, all of Westby.

NORTH SIDE

SCARED BY ROLLER HORSE SMASHES RIG

Backs Into Street Car on Causeway and Throws Driver and Wife to Ground

Joseph Smith and wife of Goose Island narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday morning when their horse took fright at the steam roller at work on the improvement of the causeway between the north and south sides of the city, and backed into a street car, overturning the wagon and throwing Mr. and Mrs. Smith to the pavement. The Goose Island people were on the way to the North side with a load of strawberries. Approaching the steam roller, the horse shied and backed, pushing the light wagon into a street car which, fortunately, had slackened up at the spot. The wagon was overturned, throwing the people to the ground. The horse ran across the causeway and landed in three feet of water in the marsh without injury. With the help of a number of men working on the causeway, the horse was disentangled from the harness and dragged to the road.

Well, It Was Strong.

Little Geraldine, aged five, had finished her dinner, which included horse radish, the first she had ever tasted. She listened to the comments of her elders as to how delicious it was, but how strong. When her father left the table she followed him to the door and said sadly, "Papa, did you have to kill a horse to get it?"

Engaged

On Monday next the playgrounds will be officially opened for the summer months. The work will be in charge of competent instructors who will devote full time to the work. The youth of the city will again have an opportunity to participate in good wholesome out-of-door amusements under expert supervision.

Five playfield instructors have been procured by the park commission to properly oversee the pleasure grounds during the coming season and will direct all the work which is undertaken on the lots.

The work for the girls is to be in charge of Miss Frances Egbert and Miss Grace Hildreth, both of this city. Miss Egbert is at present taking a course in physical education at the Sargent normal school, Cambridge, and is very well equipped for her work. While in high school she was prominent in girls' athletics, being captain of the girls' basketball team and assisting the physical director in the gymnasium. Miss Egbert will supervise raffia weaving and story telling which are new activities planned for this season's work. Miss Hildreth has for the past four years been active in physical work both in the normal school and in the high school where she assisted Miss Jonas and Miss Wylie with their work. Miss Hildreth is well known in the city, especially for her ability as a solo dancer. She took a prominent role in the normal school fete program on last Monday.

Strum Engaged
Arthur Strum, a normal school student, who received the vote of the faculty for being the best all-around athlete of the school, is to supervise the work at the Hood street playground. Mr. Strum is taking the course in physical education and is considered by Dr. Sputh as a man of exceptional talent in this line of work.

Harold Taylor is to have charge at the West avenue ground. He has just graduated from the high school, where he was prominent in athletics. He captained the track team this last season and at the state meet at Madison took first place in the hammer throw and second place in the shot put.

Geer Again at Copeland
Milton Geer will again be in charge of the activities on the north side ground. Geer did excellent work at Copeland park last season and his return is welcomed by all the "kids" of the playground. He is at present attending Carleton college, where he is specializing in physical work which he intends to follow as a profession.

Fred Dickens is again to be supervisor. He has just graduated from the Springfield (Mass.) college, where he has been preparing himself for work in physical education. Beginning Monday the playgrounds will be open from 2 to 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 in the evening of each day until August 31, when the season's activities will come to a close following a big play festival.

Activities on the fields will commence with the opening on Monday. An exceptionally active year is planned. There will be the indoor ball leagues as before, athletic meets, badge tests, exhibitions at each ground, an excursion on one of the large river steamers, raffia weaving and story telling, folk dancing and singing, marching and calisthenics and the various games such as volleyball and basketball.

Modernizing Electric Illumination

WITHOUT INCREASING YOUR COST FOR CURRENT

CHAS. P. STEINMETZ
What he says about the new Mazda Lamp
"I BELIEVE in this Mazda lamp because its quality can be proved by figures.
"I know it from tip to base.
"For seven years I have been watching every stage in its evolution.
"I have tested it in every conceivable way that a lamp can be tested.
"I have proved that it actually gives three times as much light as a carbon lamp at the same cost for current; that it also gives better, whiter, steadier light, and that it is just as rugged as any carbon lamp.
"There is no reason why any person should continue to use carbon lamps when Mazda lamps are available at their present largely reduced price."

A Corps of Consulting Illuminating Engineers Shortly to Visit Town

HERE is a wonderful opportunity for every user of illumination—factory owners, store-keepers, mill owners, etc.—to learn something to their particular advantage concerning their illuminating problems.

THE BRYAN-MARSH DIVISION of the NATIONAL LAMP WORKS of Chicago, in conjunction with the JULIUS ANDRAE & SONS CO., of Milwaukee, have arranged to have five of their expert illuminating engineers visit town on JUNE 22nd, for the purpose of demonstrating the most economical methods of illuminating in general, and the great money saving and efficiency raising qualities of the NEW TYPE C MAZDA LAMP in particular.

Get the Most for Your Money

These engineers will make their headquarters while in town at our Store, where they will be prepared to render you expert assistance in solving your illuminating problems. They will offer suggestions that will save you time, worry and money. Give you the key-note to the correct method of lighting your mill, factory, store or home.

Expert Service Without Expense To You

Long years of training have placed each of the men composing this company of experts in a position to give you the best advice possible to obtain anywhere in the world. Their demonstrations will be a valuable lesson to you, and it will be absolutely free of expense to you.

Take advantage of this wonderful opportunity. Call at their headquarters—or a 'phone call from you will bring them to you.

a Victory by a Hair;
Harvard Wins Other Events

NEW LONDON, Ct., June 20.—After losing the first two events of the annual regatta yesterday on the classic course of the Thames, the second varsity eight and the freshmen eight, Yale rallied in the final and biggest event of the day, capturing the first varsity eight race by 1-5 of a second in the closest race ever rowed over the course.

Expert opinion is divided on the result of the race. Referee Melkjohn gave the race to Yale by 1-5 of a second.

"I thought the Harvard crew had it by a couple of yards," said James S. Wray, Harvard coach today.

"Yale won in as close a race as ever was seen on any course," is the opinion of Guy Nickalls, Yale varsity coach.

LOCAL HORSES WIN AT SPARTA

Peter Chymes, the pacer owned by Adolph Nustad of La Crosse, took three seconds at the racing meet held Wednesday afternoon at Sparta. MISS WILSON'S TALK

Miss Wilson was presented by Mr. Cary as "the gifted daughter of the gifted president of the United States."

She's Embarrassed

"I am particularly embarrassed in addressing a Madison audience," Miss Wilson began, "for Madison is one of the most progressive capitals in the United States and the home of the most progressive university in the United States. So it seems presumptuous for me to stand here and talk of progressive measures before this audience."

"I wish to state the premise of the argument to be made tonight—the organization of civic secretarieships. We all take a part in decisions on public questions whether we vote or not. Decisions are made long before we go to the polls. Such decisions often demand deliberation—collective discussion. Therefore we need our council chambers. They should be non-partisan units. Discussion should come before decision, deliberation before action. We must build the machinery of democracy ourselves. Who's going to do it? We are all a little lazy, a great many of us are not enterprising. We have our school houses in many states thrown open for our community gatherings by virtue of law and now we need some agency to beckon us into the building. The business of directing such work should be done by a paid public servant, to be remunerated out of the public funds. I foresee the time when school men will be the greatest force in the community—when by them shall be coordinated the education of the children and that of the parents."

School Men Servant

Miss Wilson urged continued interest in this movement so that it might not take the form of a sporadic activity only.

"When we get together in community gatherings, young and old, things will happen," she concluded. "We shall then know the freedom that comes with adjustment. The greatest servant in the community is going to be the school man."

MARGARET WILSON MADISON SPEAKER

Daughter of the President in Address Before Wisconsin Audience; She Was Embarrassing

MADISON, Wis., June 20.—The employment of school principals as "civic secretaries" to direct the social and recreational activities of the community received a notable endorsement by distinguished persons at a public meeting in the assembly chamber last night. Interest centered largely in Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the president and Mrs. Wilson, who made a short and pointed talk on the urgent need of directing the steps of men and women toward the halls of public discussion. The meeting last night and those today are preliminary to the first national conference on civic secretarieships as public service, to be held here the first week in July.

Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, the well known authoress, of New York, doubted the advisability of making school men assume this double role. As school men they already do a full day's work she thought.

Other speakers were Miss Zona Gale, Portage, Wis.; Edward J. Ward, Madison; M. T. Buckley, superintendent of the Sauk City schools; and E. M. Barrows, of the Milwaukee district, university extension division. State Superintendent C. P. Cary presided.

WAR VETERAN, RUPTURED FOR YEARS, GETS RELIEF

Henry E. Allen Tells How Wonderful Invention
Gave Him Comfort
at Last

Henry E. Allen is a war veteran. When he left the battlefields where he served the nation he was seriously ruptured. It was part of the price of his heroism.

For many years he struggled with this handicap. He tried truss after truss and spent hundreds of dollars for them.

Every truss proved a failure. He grew discouraged and had about given up the hope of ever getting comfort and satisfaction again.

Then at last he found the Schilling Rupture Lock.

He tried it and found that his rupture was securely, naturally supported.

Finds Trouble Ended

His troubles had been ended, once for all, by the Schilling Rupture Lock. Mr. Allen tells his experience in a letter to the Schilling Rupture Institute, in which he says:

"I was very much pleased with the Rupture Lock you sent me. It is the only one that I buy that would hold my very large rupture, and I ought to know, for I have bought trusses ever since the war, and paid out hundreds of dollars for them, and they all proved a humbug."

"Your lock is holding me with ease; and some day I expect to be cured. But, even if I don't, it is worth hundreds of times the price to live again in comfort. I will advise all I meet to try it and prove it for themselves. You can publish this letter if you wish to."

Mr. Allen's experience certainly ought to be proof to any one of the safety and efficiency of the Schilling Rupture Lock. Any man, woman or child can get such relief and restoration by the use of this lock.

This is the most important invention since the treatment of rupture began. Rupture sufferers have been robbed for years by makers of trusses and worthless devices made only to sell. The Schilling Rupture Lock is made to wear.

This announcement brings you honest assurance that you can get relief. The Schilling Rupture Lock will cure rupture. You can put it on and throw your old trusses away. The Schilling Lock has been proven by the results that have stood for years. People in all kinds of work, from "rough riders" to desk men, attest its merits.

One Month's Trial Free

The Schilling Rupture Lock will be sent to any rupture sufferer for free trial for 30 days. That shows our confidence in it. It is simple and easy to wear. It has no unsightly steel springs, stays, elastics, leg bands or complicated and dangerous attachments. It is a perfected device.

Our free book on rupture will interest you and explain in detail the workings of the Schilling Rupture Lock. Send for the book now. Just write a letter or postal asking for the book, giving your name and address clearly—or fill out and send to us the blank form here:

TOLL ROAD DEAD

MADISON, Wis., June 20.—By the dissolution of the Lake Avenue company of Milwaukee, the last toll road in Milwaukee is a matter of history. The road, which was incorporated by act of the legislature of 1869, was recently sold to Milwaukee county for $15,000. Charles F. Pfister was president of the company.

STANDARDIZATION DOWNWARD IS NOT PURPOSE OF LAW

terday afternoon to give their opinions as to what the minimum wage for La Crosse should be.

While practically every employer testifying admitted that $6.00 a week would be a fair minimum wage here many protested against a $7.00 week scale.

$7.00 Would Close Shop
Thomas Lyons of the Reliable Steam Laundry told the commissioners that some employers might have to close their doors if $7.00 was ordered.

Mr. Lyons believed a girl should be 20 years of age before she should be able to earn her own living. Mr. Joseph Funke of the Funke Candy Co., testified that the average girl in his establishment gets at least $5.00 a week after she has been employed there six months.

At $7.00 a week, Mr. D. S. Fairbairn told the commission, his establishment would have to discharge some of its employees.

Higher Wages Here
That La Crosse candy manufacturers pay higher wages to women than do similar industries in Milwaukee was the assertion of Wallace

Mr. Crownhart also told the commission that the commission was encountering difficulty in determining what it costs a woman each year for clothes. "We can't set an amount for that," said Mr. Crownhart, "because the average woman spends all she makes for adornment."

R. Montague of the La Crosse Cracker & Candy Co., a poll of his factory showed the cost of board and room to be $3.00 a week.

He agreed that $6.00 would be a fair minimum.

W. E. Barber of the Modern Steam Laundry said that the highest priced help is the cheapest. He maintained he could stock his laundry with cheap labor but that the higher priced was the most efficient. Seven dollars as a minimum would be too high he thought, and in case that amount is decided upon the higher priced girls would suffer.

Favors the Law
Bert J. Cassels of the La Crosse Clothing Co., favored a $6.00 minimum wage, said that he believed in the law and that board, room and laundry, on an average, cost his employees $3.50 per week.

D. W. MacMillan of the Wisconsin Pearl Button Co., F. D. Shane of the Onalaska Pickle Works and Charles Stutzman, a private citizen, also testified.

FIRE IN DEBRIS HALTS RECOVERY OF 143 BODIES

Revised Figures of Hillcrest Mine Disaster
Show Life Loss
Is 195

HILLCREST, Alta., June 20.—Working heroically, the rescuers in Hillcrest Mine No. 20, brought under partial control the fire which reappeared this morning and at noon had taken out a total of 95 bodies, leaving 100 still in the mine and given up for dead.

HILL CREST, Alberta, June 20.—Flames broke forth at 7 o'clock this morning in the tunnel of Hill Crest Mine, No. 20, wrecked by a terrific explosion yesterday and all rescue work was discontinued. Rescuers barely escaped with their lives.

Death List 195

The revised figures given out by the Hill Crest company this morning show that of 236 miners who entered yesterday morning only 41 came out alive, leaving the death list at 195. Quigley, superintendent of the colliery, is among the entombed.

Fifty-two lifeless bodies had been taken out at 6 o'clock this morning shortly before the flames broke out. Two hundred coffins have been ordered from Winnipeg.

NAON TAKES LAST WORD OF U. S. TO HUERTA DELEGATES

Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan the "inside" of last night's conference between Senor Naon, the president and his premier, was learned. Naon explained to the president that the mediators were confronted with a situation where unless mutual concessions were made, their mission must fail.

The president explained that this was impossible. He said permanent peace was wanted in Mexico, and that careful investigation had demonstrated the only government which would have a chance to succeed was one espousing the things the constitutionalists stood for.

Plans to Force Intervention
BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
VERA CRUZ, June 20.—By some deliberate overt act to try to force armed American intervention in Mexico if mediation fails was declared here today to be Huerta's latest plan.

Arrivals from Mexico City and observers here of the policy of the Mexican dictator agreed today that everything indicates Huerta is waiting only until mediation is declared futile to have his troops near Vera Cruz commit some breach of the practical armistice.

Behavior of the Mexican troops in contact with the Americans at railroad gap adds weight to this opinion. For some time the relations between the forces have been friendly but in the last day or two all amities have ceased.

Further indication of the alleged plan to force an American advance is seen here in the fact that for the first time since the American occupation of Vera Cruz, Huerta's soldiers at the line are pillaging the baggage of passengers coming through from Mexico City to the coast.

"SIN" AT MAJESTIC FIRST OF WEEK

The great four reel masterpiece, "Sin," will be shown at the Majestic next Monday and Tuesday.

The picture is a lesson teaching the results of sin in varied forms. It includes scenes at Monte Carlo, a dive from the London bridge, a cabaret show, the English derby race, besides a number of fire scenes. The picture is a product of the English Kinemacolor company.

Tomorrow will be shown a Vitagraph feature in two parts, "The Girl from Prosperity," with Billy Quirk, Anita Stewart and Lucile and Rose Tapley in the title roles, besides an Essanay, "Broncho Billy's Pal," with G. M. Anderson, A. Selig, "A Fire Juggler Punishing and Admonishing a Coquette," and a Kinemacolor, "A Narrow Escape," and a beautiful scenic picture will also be shown.

THIRD BIG LEAGUE PLAN OF MAJORS

Four Teams of American Association and Four of International to Be Taken

NEW YORK, June 20.—"It is practically certain that a new major league will be formed of four teams from the International league and four from the American Association," said Ban Johnson, president of the American league, today after a meeting of the National Baseball commission.

Neither Johnson or the other magnates would specify just what teams were in mind further than that Buffalo and Baltimore probably would be among the eight.

WEST SALEM JAIL BRINGS OUT TOWN

Band Concert Is Interrupted When Prisoner Sets Fire to Bed in His Cell

West Salem was roused last night by a fire in the city jail. Gene Burlington, widely known character, was the cause of the trouble. He was locked in a cell, and set fire to his bed.

The Western Guernsey Breeders' association was listening to a band concert by the West Salem band. With the cry of "Fire" all hands deserted the large tent on the A. I. Stubbs farm and went to the blaze. Most of the townspeople turned out, as well.

The fire was quickly placed under control and the damage was not extensive.

NEW DIVORCE RULE MADE BY HIGBEE

Judge Higbee made a new ruling in the circuit court this morning, regarding divorce cases which have been permitted to go by default. Hereafter such cases will not be tried until proof has been submitted to the court actually proving that the summons has been served.

Another point the judge made was that the divorce attorney would in the future have to be notified five days before a suit was commenced, of the possibility of a suit.

The case of Jenks against Jenks was up again today. Some time ago Louis Jenks was made the defendant in a divorce action by his wife, and she won. Mrs. Jenks was given the custody of the girl. The husband took the boy. Mrs. Jenks has since married a wealthy Montana ranchman, and she wishes to have her son spend the summer vacation with her. A bond of $1,000, to insure the return of the boy, must be put up.

"I will very gladly hear a motion from either of the attorneys in this case for a change in the custody of these children," said Judge Higbee. In her appeal Mrs. Jenks asks that the boy be permitted to spend his vacation with her, and says she is better able to support, educate and care for him than is the father.

In the case of Coster against Coster the court refused to reopen the hearing. Mr. Coster was asking that the case, which was decided in favor of his wife, be reconsidered.

Strong against Strong, a case in which Mrs. Strong is suing her husband, Carl Strong, for a divorce, came up again this morning. More accounts of the "beer party" which is said to have been followed by a pitched battle, were heard. Men employed on the Strong farm were called and gave their testimony in the case. All claimed that Mrs. Strong's actions had been of the best.

Two children, John, 15, and Elmer, 12, were placed on the stand, questioned by the court as to their mother's conduct with an employee of her husband. The man was Dennis Rogie. Both of the children stated that they had never seen anything out of the way.

The application of Mrs. Strong for a divorce was refused this afternoon in Judge Higbee's court. The court, however, ruled that Strong should pay the costs of the proceedings and contribute toward the support of the three children.

The case of Louise Frey against John Frey came near to being a sensation. The judge, in questioning Mrs. Frey learned that there had been some mention of divorce between the two. "I told him I could not live with him any longer," said the woman.

"What did he answer?" was Judge Higbee's question. "He told me he was through with me."

She denied, however, that there had been any agreement or arrangement between them as to a settlement. Frey, according to the testimony, claimed that his wife was entirely too well acquainted with an engineer named Johnson on the Northwestern road.

STEWART GIRL IS FOUND IN HOTEL

Following discovery of Lola Saewart, 16 year old colored girl whose mother yesterday feared she had been abducted, in the European hotel on North Second street, District Attorney D. S. Law said today that prosecution of Hoay Lee, proprietor of the Shanghai chop suey restaurant, 124 South Third street, on a charge of selling liquor without a license, would be pressed. The girl Thursday night was found by her mother, Mrs. Ben Embree, with five negro waiters in a booth in the chop suey restaurant. Liquor was on the table. Late yesterday afternoon she was discovered by Detective Fitzsimmons in the European hotel, and turned over to her mother.

Village of Bangor; L. C. Sanders, West Salem; Bernie Mau, West Salem; Wm. Luening, La Crosse; W. H. Storaandt, Farmington.

The text of the petition follows: "June 7, 1914.

"Hon. John Aylward, Madison, Wis. "Dear Sir: We, the undersigned democrats of La Crosse county, desire to express to you our conviction that you are, all things considered, the best equipped man in Wisconsin, in any party, for the office of governor of this state.

"Moreover, the undersigned believe that you represent the best and most advanced ideas in state and national government, in our own party, and that you are the proper person to head our state ticket to be made up of men in harmony with the Wilson administration. Moreover, that by reason of your large and intimate association with leaders all over this state makes you the best candidate from the standpoint of expediency.

"Believing these things, we earnestly urge you to forego any ambitions which you may have for the United States senatorship at this time, and become our standard bearer for the office of governor. We appreciate that in some respects this may involve sacrifices on your part, but trust that the earnest assurance of support and confidence, which you will receive from the thousands of earnest workers in the party, will compensate you, in part at least, for the sacrifices so made.

"We feel sure if you will consent to make the run that you will obtain the nomination and, if the people of Wisconsin know their own interests, also the election.

"To bring this about, we desire to assure you of our earnest and hearty support in whatever way we may be called upon to render it.

"Trusting that this will appeal to you, we beg to remain
"Yours very truly,"

ALFALFA IS BEST CROP TO RAISE IN LA CROSSE COUNTY

of butter fat a cow gives goes up and down with the amount of protein in their food.

"Timothy hay contains about three per cent; clover nearly eight, and alfalfa 11. So why should not every farmer put all the land he can in alfalfa?"

"You farmers think it is pretty hard to pay out good money for bran to feed your cows, but why do you do it, when the same properties, or practically the same, can be secured by the use of alfalfa?"

"You pay for bran $27 a ton. It is not safe to say that alfalfa is worth at least $20 a ton? And when you can raise four or five tons to the acre don't you think it would pay you to try it at least? If you can get $50 or $100 an acre out of your land, it seems to me that it would be a most excellent thing to do."

Professor Nordgard explained at length the necessity of proper inoculation of the land, before the alfalfa is planted. He told of experiments conducted in the various parts of the state by the university and the striking results obtained through the use of the bacteria. On instance, at Viroqua, where the yield was increased from one and a half tons to the acre to five tons, was especially interesting to the local farmers.

Can Get Cultures

"It is possible," continued the speaker, "to secure a good culture for fields of alfalfa. There are some cultures that are good, but the best way to secure this bacteria is to transplant the soil from a field where alfalfa has been successfully grown to your new field. This plan cannot fail."

"Among the things that are necessary for the successful and proper cultivation of land is light, well drained, dry soil, the proper preparation of the soil and enough lime."

Plant in July

"The middle of July is the best time to plant alfalfa. You farmers here in West Salem, with the canning industry here, are unusually fortunate. You can use your land first for peas and then for alfalfa."

"Alfalfa is no experiment in Wisconsin. There are now 60,000 acres and more planted, and I hope to see this greatly increased in another year."

In closing Professor Nordgard gave a little advice as to how to keep the boy on the farm. "Do it right," was what he said, "and let the boy see that farming is a real business and something he can become interested in."

BIG EXCURSION RIVER BOAT SINKS

Mississippi Steamer Majestic Goes Down at St. Louis and One Is Missing

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—One man, member of the crew of the Mississippi river steamer Majestic, the largest and declared to be the most magnificent excursion steamer on the river, is missing following the sinking of the boat off the intake tower at the Chain of Rocks early this morning. He is a white watchman.

The steamer had landed 1,000 excursionists at Alton, Ill., and was on its way down the river to St. Louis.

Alarming reports were circulated early this morning that many lives were lost, but confirmation is lacking. Gradually the missing are being found and it is believed that eventually all of the missing will be accounted for.

It was reported that there were lights burning on the piling or cribbing of the water works when the steamer struck it. Only the steamer's Texas deck is above water.

Mate Posey, who came ashore in one of the lifeboats, declared it would be impossible to give an accurate list of the persons aboard until the log could be recovered from the steamer.

The unaccounted for: Cuthbert, William, Peoria, Ill.; watchman.

To fool his wife an Atchison man refers to his "morning after" bust-head as cinchonism.

Neither is a minimum wage much of a bulwark to a man who can't find work.

GUERNSEY IS KING AT SALEM SESSION OF CATTLE SOCIETY

best Guernsey district in the United States," was the verdict of the visitors.

ors. A great many of them were surprised at the extent the Guernsey breeding has spread over the county.

Plea for Grades

An interesting side light on the meeting was the plea for grade cattle. F. W. Kimball, Waltham, Minn., farmer, is the owner of a famed herd of grade Guernseys. "It is imposble to think that there can be enough of the pure breeds so everyone can have a registered herd," he declared. "The members of this association should interest others in the breeding of good grade cattle. While the results may not be as large the returns are nearly as profitable."

Mr. Kimball has one grade Guernsey which netted him $89 last year. This is considered remarkably good by members of the association who know what grade cattle can do. Plans are under way by officials of the organization to make it possible to register the grades as well as the pure breed cattle.

William H. Caldwell, secretary of the American Guernsey Cattle club, was a speaker yesterday afternoon. He outlined in detail the work which is done by the officers of the club, which is the mother organization of the Western Guernsey Breeders' association, and dealt at length with registration and proper breeding of cattle.

Personal Contact

"The best way to advance the popularity of the breed is to advertise it by personal contact," he said. "We are all interested in Guernsey cattle, and whenever we learn of a man starting a herd of any kind it is our duty to see that he starts a Guernsey herd."

Mr. Caldwell gave some data on what the various tests have shown. In 1902 545 pounds of butter fat was the record. In a seven day test "Royallette," one of the best known cows of the breed, averaged 28 pounds a week. At a test in New York, that year, the pure bred Guernsey led with 28, the Jersey with nine and the Holstein fourth with six pounds of butter fat a week.

Guernseys Win

"This shows that even then the Guernsey was the better breed," declared Mr. Caldwell. "It is better now, just as it was better then."

The next test made was at the World's fair in St. Louis. The record then for pounds of butter fat per cow per year was 782.

Merit What Wins

"Merit brought the Guernsey to the United States and that is what is keeping her here," he said. "The public has seen what these tests have shown and they are beginning to know what the breed can do."

Big Herd Average

One herd of Guernseys in the east made an average of 426 pounds of butter fat a year for the entire herd, according to the speaker. This is 275 pounds in favor of the Guernsey. In a later test than the one mentioned above 59 cows were entered. Out of the 59, 36 were over 500, four over 622 and one made the remarkable record of 713 pounds of butter fat a year.

Future Unlimited

"The future of the Guernsey is boundless," said Mr. Caldwell in closing. "There is no limit to what can be accomplished with the proper breeding and no limit to what will be done. On the day of judgment I hope to see the Guernsey on the right hand seat, where she belongs."

Start in Wisconsin

Charles H. Hill, formerly president of the American Guernsey Cattle club, gave some interesting history of the Guernsey movement in the United States. In September of 1881 N. K. Fairbanks, Chicago capitalist, and Lake Geneva farmer as well, imported three Guernseys. I. J. Clapp of Kenosha was the second to become interested. He was breeding Jerseys then, saw the three imported Guernseys and at once became impressed. He purchased 25 head at a sale in Philadelphia. He had little encouragement for over six years, when Mark Foot purchased a few. F. W. Pratt and W. I. Hamilton soon followed.

First Bull Here

H. W. Griswold of West Salem brought one of the first bulls over. Ex-Governor Hoard became interested then.

In 1886 the first Guernsey cattle were shown at the state fair. At practically all of the fairs held during that time Wisconsin cattle have won. Plans are already being made to send a large representation to the San Francisco fair, and capture the honors there.

6,000 in State

It is estimated that there are about 6,000 pure bred Guernseys in the state of Wisconsin now. Last year 2,550 were transferred.

Mr. Hill's talk was very interesting to the breeders and gave them some information on the extent of the business in Wisconsin.

All Attend Sale

Practically all of the visiting delegates remained over today for the big sale to be held by the West Salem Guernsey men at the farm of A. I. Stubbs. Over 75 head of pure bred cattle are to be sold there. It is estimated that the value is something over $25,000.

Among the better known breeders at the summer session of the association were: Edward A. Walter, Walworth, Wis.; Adolph Nettleman, West Salem; Ray Lewis, West Salem; Harry Jewett, West Salem; Karl Byington, Merrill, Wis.; W. H. Hanchett, Sparta; Howard Martin, Mount Rock, Minn.; Judge R. H. Long, Prairie du Chien; A. J. Wayman, St. Paul; M. E. Schwartz, St. Paul; S. C. French, Galesville; T. J. Wright, Mauston; J. J. and E. E. Bean, Wausau; H. S. Hoard, Madison, and C. M. Jones of Chicago.

A large number of new members were secured at the summer meeting of the association.

It was voted to take a dollar a year from the life memberships.

which are now being held in a trust fund, and use this money for the advertisement of the breed.

The officers of the association are: President—Edward A. Walter, Walworth, Wis.

Vice president—J. R. Bent, Oglesby, Ill.

Second vice president—Dr. L. A. Wright, Columbus, Wis.

Third vice president—Wm. L. Erbach, Athens, Wis.

Secretary-treasurer—Charles L. Hill, Rosendale, Wis.

Members executive committee: H. W. Griswold, West Salem, Wis. Wm. J. Heid, Fort Atkinson, Wis.

Week Financial

BANK STATEMENT

NEW YORK, June 20.—The weekly actual bank statement issued today showed the following changes: Surplus, decreased, $3,471,950. Loans, decreased, $5,205,000. Specie, decreased, $12,784,000. Legals, increased, $4,967,000. Deposits, decreased, $20,417,000. Circulation, increased, $63,000. Surplus, reserve, $38,839,250.

NEW YORK, June 20.—As there was reason to expect, the stock market of the day was negligible. Prices as a rule held firm, with fractional advances prevalent. European stock exchanges were as dull as ours. The full statement of the country's foreign trade for May was published, showing another "import excess"—which, however, was less by $4,500,000 than that of April. Imports for May increased as largely as in April, and exports decreased in almost equal measure.

There is unquestionably much truth in the theory of a "psychological depression." It may also be admitted, frankly that there is such a thing as notably bad taste in the way of contributing circulars and letters, even to the congressional and administrative rubbish heaps.

DISAGREEMENT ENDS TRIAL

DENVER, Col., June 20.—The third trial of Robert Owen on the charge of leading the crowd of men who kidnaped and beat Rev. O. L. Spurgeon here in April, is scheduled to begin July 6. This trial ended yesterday afternoon, like the first in a disagreement and discharge of the jury. Spurgeon was assaulted after he had delivered a lecture attacking the Catholic priesthood.

FEAR TUG IS LOST

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., June 20.—Two tugs left here today to search for the tug Manitowoc feared lost in a gale which swept the lake near here last night. The Manitowoc was towing two 3,000 pound concrete caissons for the breakwater here and it was interrupted by the storm. Other lake points report heavy winds but no damage to boats.

Value of Fruit Acids.

It is thought that acid fruits induce rheumatism. The contrary is true. Fruit acids taken into the system by a person, who has rheumatism act beneficially, and actually have the effect of increasing the alkalinity of the blood. Experiments have proved this conclusively. Thus a person who has too much uric acid in the blood should for a time eat fruit or acid fruit juices in large quantities.

Immortal Engraving.

If we work upon marble, it will perish. If we work upon brass, time will efface it. If we rear temples, they will crumble into dust. But if we work upon immortal souls, if we imbue them with principles, with the just fear of God and love of fellow men, we engrave on those tablets something which will brighten to all eternity.—Daniel Webster.

SHOWING THE GROWING TENDENCY TO DRAW ALL DRAPERY TO THE BACK OF THE SKIRT

For some time we have noticed the inclination to arrange all fullness and drapery at the back of the skirt, leaving the front more or less plain; this began no doubt, with the revival of the bustle. It is pleasing and becoming, especially to slender figures. This idea is illustrated effectively in 8404; it is a plain black taffeta gown with a yoked bodice and a draped overskirt. The drapery is arranged in puffs at the back. An inset vest of crisp, white organza affords the proper relief and the broad satin girdle lends an effective contrast to the dull finish of the taffeta. This frock may be copied in size 36, with 5 1/2 yards of 42-inch material. Taffeta is priced at $1.25 a yard and up. The second costume shown (8390) is developed in a flowered taffeta over plain white; here is also a long draped overskirt, caught up slightly on one side to show a plaited flounce of cream white taffeta. A yoke saves the bodice from severity and the narrow frill of net finishing neck and sleeves is attractive. To make up this dress in size 36, 4 1/2 yards of 42-inch taffeta is required. No. 8404, sizes 34 to 42. No. 8390, sizes 34 to 42.

NAME BANK RECEIVER.
CHICAGO, June 20.—W. C. Niblack, trust officer for the Chicago Title and Trust company, was today appointed receiver for the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, the big Lorimer institution closed one week ago.

His bond was fixed at $2,500,000 by Judge Windes. Attorney General Lucey told the court today that the assets of the bank probably would not exceed $2,000,000. Total liabilities will exceed $5,000,000, he said.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 20.—Under direction of State Auditor Brady, Assistant State Bank Examiner Scullins today closed the Farmers' Bank of Bethalto, Behtalto, Madison county, Ill., a state bank controlled by the C. B. Munday interests.

Judging from their talk, some people never get their backs warm.

CHURCH NEWS

Three Secretaries to Replace Thompson

The Rev. Dr. Charles L. Thompson, for years secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, one of the largest home societies in America, and Chairman of the Home Missions Council, which includes in membership all home mission societies, has resigned in accordance with agreements fixed up at the recent General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Chicago, and three secretaries have been chosen in his place. One of these secretaries, the Rev. Dr. Baxter P. Fullerton of St. Louis, is to have charge of Presbyterian Church extension, and to have headquarters in St. Louis, which city is for the first time to become a national headquarters for the Presbyterian church—the large northern body. The other secretaries chosen, are the Rev. Dr. John Dixon, and Joseph E. McAfee.

A committee has been named to raise, if possible, the large sum of money, more than $400,000, needed to pull the home and foreign Presbyterian missions boards out of debt. The former fell behind for the first time in fifteen years, and the latter has the largest debt in its recent history.

Stevenson to Head Princeton Seminary.

The election of the Rev. Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, pastor of Brown Memorial Church, Baltimore, to be the head of Princeton Theological Seminary, seems to give general satisfaction to all elements in the Presbyterian church. He succeeds the Rev. Dr. Francis L. Patton, and was once on the teaching staff of McCormick Seminary, Chicago, and pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, New York. It is understood he will accept and enter upon the new work with the seminary's opening in the fall.

Princeton Seminary has long stood for the sound theology that many Presbyterians think Union Seminary does not stand for, and yet the new president of it, the Rev. Dr. Stevenson, is regarded by the same Presbyterians as sufficiently progressive. The Fifth Avenue church, New York, of which he was pastor, while conservative in most things, is regarded as liberal in policies, and not too old fashioned in its theology.

Plan Three New Evangelistic Campaigns

Three new evangelistic campaigns are ordered. All of them have new features. One, the Methodist, maps out intensive work for the entire year. The other two, Presbyterian and Reformed, are for the 250,000 students of higher education, from the ranks of whom ministers and all christian workers, or nearly all, says the order for the campaigns, come in due course. All three of these bodies have agreed to that the working year to begin next October shall be given up to intercessions to the Holy Ghost for larger influence upon the churches. An Episcopal church preaching mission is also to start at the same time.

Methodist Church South Would Change Name

The Methodist Church South, which wants to change its name and omit the word "South", has just voted to invite once more the Methodist Church, by which is meant that of the North, into one great Methodist Episcopal Church in America. The invitation carries forward a plan long considered by both North and South, and does so at a time when many expected union talk for the present to have come to a fruitless end. The Southern Methodists propose a separate Methodist church for negroes to which negroes now belonging to the North shall be assigned. It suggests one general conference, but to relieve it in size and work it proposes four geographical conferences, meeting on years that the general body does not.

C. E. Society Plans Nation-Wide Campaign

Christian Endeavor proposes a nation-wide campaign, to begin at once, to foster good fellowship on a Christian basis. A change is announced of its Good Citizenship Sunday, from one falling near to the Fourth of July to the third Sunday in October, and it states that half a dozen Christian organizations, chiefly those of young people have promised cooperation. The temperance question, which Christian Endeavor is pushing, publicity by modern forms as bill boards and display advertising in newspapers, and the preaching of sermons on patriotism are chief plans for the campaign during this summer.

14TH INFANTRY TO ALASKA.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—The United States army transport Buford today is enroute for Alaska, carrying part of the Fourteenth infantry, which has been designated to relieve the Thirteenth infantry. The Thirteenth which is distributed along a thousand miles of the Alaskan coast, will be returned to the mainland, first coming to the Presidio here. About 500 men will be taken to Alaska and the same number shipped home. The Buford has been in drydock and after a thorough overhauling presents the appearance of a new vessel.

Progress.

"The rolling stone gathers no moss," is a time-worn proverb, but, after all, it may well be questioned whether moss gathering is the highest use to which a stone can be put. The stones that grind the meal for man's bread are not less valuable because they are uncared with moss and the man who refuses to move along the road of general progress or helpfulness because it may interfere with his chance to accumulate for himself is not an ideal citizen.—Selected

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES—RESINOL CURED

Atlanta, Ga., April 24, 1913.—"My face was covered with pimples which defied creams, soaps and cosmetics. They were a source of constant humiliation to me, coming in contact with many strangers as I do, as a business woman.

"By the time I had finished a cake of Resinol Soap and half a jar of Resinol Ointment, my skin was soft as velvet, and as smooth. My friends were stunned, and everyone asked me what I had done. When I told them, I think they hardly believed it, for the transformation was simply wonderful.

"Since then I have been using Resinol Soap and shall never be without it again, for I have learned the delights of a clear, soft, beautiful complexion that may be attained by its constant use." (Signed) Miss E. P. Gaddis, 284 South Pryor St.

You Ought to Know

How Sleep the Brave
How sleep the brave, who sink to rest
By all their country's wishes blest!
When Spring with dewy fingers cold
Returns to deck their hallowed mould,
She there shall dress a sweeter sod
Than Fancy's feet have ever trod.

By fairy hands their knell is rung;
By forms unseen their dirge is sung;
There Honor comes, a Pilgrim gray
To bless the turf that wraps their clay;

And Freedom shall awhile repair,
To dwell a weeping hermit there.

DEMOCRATS BALK AT TRUST PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Possibility of revolt from members of his own party against prolonging the present session of congress for enactment of trust legislation was presented to President Wilson today. House Leader Underwood told him the continuance in office of many democrats depended on their early release from Washington through adjournment of congress. The president responded that business conditions demanded removal of uncertainty as to trust legislation by immediate action.

HELEN MORTON WEDS

CHICAGO, June 20.—Chicago society folks who have been following the affairs of Miss Helen Morton with considerable interest since her reported estrangement from her wealthy father, Frank Morton, were treated to another surprise today when they received cards announcing her marriage at Geneva, Ill., last Tuesday, to Roger Bailey, of Delaplane, Va. Miss Morton first gained the limelight by leaving her father's country place at Lake Forest and hastening to Virginia "to nurse a sick friend." In interviews she bombarded Chicago society as an aggregation of "nit wits" until her father brought her back to Lake Forest.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur

Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at a drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly get it so darkened your hair as does it so naturally and evenly. Y dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears and after another application two, your hair becomes beautiful, dark, thick and glossy and you are years younger.

BUT ONE ANSWER

to the great health problem—you must keep the digestive system strong and active. Weakness there, soon disturbs the entire system. A daily use of the famous

WOMEN CAN HARDLY BELIEVE

How Mrs. Hurley Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Eldon, Mo. — "I was troubled with displacement, inflammation and female weakness. For two years I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without enduring cutting and drawing pains down my right side which increased every month. I have been at that time purple in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down or sit still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous, and had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world. After I had tried most every female remedy without success, my mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way and highly praise your medicine. It advertises itself."—Mrs. S. T. HURLEY, Eldon, Missouri.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For sale everywhere. It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it? Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

MOTOR SOCIETY TO HAVE PICNIC

Word Is Received at McGregor of Death of Mrs. Alice Hamilton, a Former Resident

MCGREGOR, Iowa, June 20.—The Clayton County Automobile society will hold its second annual picnic at Pike's Peak, near McGregor, Wednesday, June 24. A basket picnic will be held on the hill at noon. At 3 o'clock a ball game will be played at the home diamond by the McGregor and Prairie du Chien teams. The game promises to be a very good one, as both the McGregor and Prairie du Chien teams have been making a fine record this season. In the evening the barge Mississippi will take out an excursion. There are 700 automobiles in Clayton county and a big crowd is expected. The officers of the club are W. W. Davidson, Elkader, president; W. C. Reimer, Elkader, secretary and treasurer, and a board of directors consisting of one automobile owner from each township in the county.

Mrs. Hamilton Dead

Word has come of the death of Mrs. Alice Hamilton at Rapid City, South Dakota. Mrs. Hamilton was a sister of Mrs. Frances Rhoda, Mrs. Sarah Barker, Mrs. Samuel Barnhouse and Mrs. Snyder, all of McGregor. She was born in Oconomowoc, Wis., in 1859 and married John Hamilton at McGregor in 1877. Mr. Hamilton taught school at Elkader for seventeen years. Since his death Mrs. Hamilton has been living with her daughter, Mrs. J. L. Hobbins at Rapid City.

Mrs. Barron's Guests

Charles and Helen Hunting of Minneapolis, are spending two weeks in McGregor, the guests of Mrs. Hannah Barron. Miss Helen has just successfully passed the entrance examination to Bryn Mahr and will enter the college next year. Charles will be a sophomore at the University of Minnesota next year.

Improve Residence

The C. F. Spaulding residence is undergoing extensive improvements. Hardwood floors have been laid throughout, several handsome new windows have been placed and the house has been repapered and will be painted inside and out.

Students Are Home

Among the college students home for the summer vacation are Raymond Sullivan, who is attending Notre Dame university, Indiana; Miss Marie Elwell, University of Wisconsin; Miss Jessie Donaldson, University of Minnesota; Will O'Reilly, University of Iowa; Louis Brennan, University of South Dakota; Will Brennan, State Agricultural College, Ames.

Persons

Oscar Fryklund, who has been conducting a photographer's studio for several years at Durand, Wis., has leased Mrs. C. T. Peick's studio in McGregor for a year.

Miss Lorinne Day and Miss Muriel Smith, both of whom have been teaching the past year in Monticello, Iowa, after a short visit at home have departed for the state normal at Cedar Falls to take summer work.

MUST PAY WIFE.

CHICAGO, June 20.—Ralph Modjeska, son of the famous actress, must pay his wife, Mme. Felicia Modjeska, $350 a month for her maintenance, pending the outcome of his suit for divorce filed at Portland, Ore. Judge O'Connor so ordered today.

Really a Good Idea.

"Is your wife going to wear her diamonds to the grand opera?" "Of course," answered Mr. Cumrox. "We can't all appreciate music, and we ought to try to make grand opera interesting even for those who go merely to look on."

PROMINENT MEMBER OF BRITISH SOCIETY

Duchess of Abercorn.

Here is a recent photograph of the charming Duchess of Abercorn, wife of Sir James Albert Edward Hamilton, Duke of Abercorn. She is the only daughter of the fourth Earl of Lucan and before her marriage in 1894 was Lady Rosalind Cecilia Caroline Bingham. She is the mother of five children.

The head of one of the greatest steel mills in America walked into a Studebaker store last week and said: "Send me out a Studebaker SIX. Studebakers are the hardest people in the automobile business to satisfy on steels. Judging by their chemical, metallurgical, and physical tests, this must be the best 'Six' in the world'."

Studebaker

Economical Light-Weight

$1575

One of the reasons why Studebakers are the hardest people in the automobile business to satisfy on steels is this:

In no other way than by heat treatment of steels can the strength of a "SIX" be greatly increased while the weight is being decreased.

In no other way than by the scientific distribution of this weight through intensive manufacturing can that balance be secured which results in the superb roadability of the Studebaker SIX.

And the important thing for you to remember is that the Studebaker SIX stands absolutely alone among light "Sixes" in the application of manufacturing methods without which light-weight, strength, balance and roadability are impossible.

How Studebaker SIX Superiority Shows Itself

The Studebaker SIX will glide silently from a standing start on high into a forty mile gait, in a distance of less than 200 yards.

The Studebaker SIX when it is skimming along at a high rate of speed will actually seem to you—from the lack of effort and vibration—to be going at a rate ten miles per hour less.

The Studebaker SIX will stick to a straight line with scarcely a touch on the steering wheel, mile after mile and hour after hour—while other "Sixes" are constantly creeping to one side or the other, and being coaxed back.

The Studebaker SIX will take steeper hills and more of them, on high, than any other "Six" it meets in a day's run.

The Studebaker SIX is not merely motor-silent, but silent all over—the transmission on the rear axle, in addition to its other advantages, contributing to that result.

The Studebaker Proof Book describes and pictures the scientific manufacturing operations of Studebaker. Send for it.

STUDEBAKER
Detroit

The difference between a brand-new manufactured Studebaker SIX and a brand-new assembled or semi-manufactured "Six" is immediately apparent in the superior way in which the Studebaker holds the road. And that difference grows more marked month after month. It culminates tragically, in a second-hand sale of the non-manufactured "Six" at a terrific depreciation.

The Studebaker FOUR is characterized by the same manufacturing excellence and quality of material as the Studebaker SIX.

Home-Coming!

How pleasant that word "home-coming" sounds to every one! What is life without a home anyway? So now while the idea of home is in your mind, ask yourself this question: Why don't I own my home? Then call at our office and let us go over the matter with you. You do not need a lot of money to start with. Just a small amount for a first payment. The rest you pay the same as rent. In a few short years the words "Our Home" is true in every sense of the word and will be the greatest homecoming that any one can have.

We are offering "homes" at remarkably low prices and have just added a number of houses and lots to our list. We have homes from $425 to $5,500. Lots from $50 to $1,000. We also have about 50 lots that range in price from $50 to $75, and best of all, they are all bargains.

Call us up—Both Phones.

Grain Review

CHICAGO, June 20.—Wheat started steady and turned firm in the early trading on firmness at Liverpool but further indications that the Kansas wheat crop will be up to predictions caused liberal selling. Prices dropped 3/4 for July and 5/8 for September in today's brief session.

Corn was up a shade at the start and made further advances of 1/4 for each month before the close. Forecasts of unsettled weather in Argentina checked an early decline and caused renewed buying.

Oats shaded higher at the start with offerings light but eased off 1/4 later in the morning, partly because of the break in wheat. Provisions had a strong undertone on account of higher hog prices at the stockyards.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

New York, 6; Cincinnati, 0
NEW YORK, June 20.—The Giants shut out Cincinnati in the first game of the series yesterday 6 to 0. Marquard had one of his good days and was practically unbeatable. Ames faced his former team mates. Score: R H E Cincinnati . . . 00000000—0 4 6 New York . . . 01003002x—6 10 0 Batteries: Ames, Koster and Clerk; Marquard and Meyers.

Boston, 7; St. Louis, 5
BOSTON, June 20.—A fine rally in the eighth inning enabled the Braves to overcome a two run lead of the Cardinals and they won, 7 to 5. Both Evers and Huggins were banished for protesting too vociferously. Schmidt was injured in a close play at second and had to retire. Score: R H E

St. Louis . . . 000010040—5 12 1 Boston . . . 00001024x—7 13 2 Batteries: Griner, Sallee and Snyder; Rudolph, James and Whaling.

Chicago, 8; Philadelphia, 7
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 20.—The Cubs took yesterday's game from the Phillies after ten innings. Each side employed three pitchers. In the tenth Leach's homer, followed by swats by Good and Zimmermann, counted two for the visitors. Score: R H E

Chicago . . . 0120030002—8 11 3 Philadelphia . . . 0300021001—7 7 3 Batteries: Zabel, Lavender, Cheney and Needham; Jacobs, Rixey, Mayer, Burns and Killifer.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Chicago, 3; Boston, 2
CHICAGO, June 20.—Chicago evened up the series with Boston on Friday by winning the second game of the series, 3 to 2. The first two runs made by each team were scored by bunting hits. The winning run was made in the seventh. Scott fumbled Weaver's grounder and Blackburne sacrificed. Singles by J. Collins and Chase scored Weaver, Benz held the visitors to five hits, while R. Collins was hit hard. The fielding of Weaver, Blackburne and Chase was a feature. Score: R H E

Boston . . . 100100000—2 5 1 Chicago . . . 10010010x—3 11 2 Batteries: Collins, Bedient, Carrigan and Thomas; Benz and Schalk.

St. Louis, 6; Philadelphia, 2
ST. LOUIS, June 20.—After the Athletics had counted two in the first inning on Oldring's single and doubles by Collins and Baker, the Browns came back with five runs in their half on six hits. Score: R H E

Philadelphia . . . 20000000—2 6 2 St. Louis . . . 50000100x—6 9 1 Batteries: Wyckoff, Bressler and Schang; Weisman and Agnew.

Detroit, 3; Washington, 2
DETROIT, June 20.—In the tenth inning of yesterday's game, with the score tied, one out and Bush on third base, Boehling purposely passed Cobb and Crawford. Veach came through with a sharp single and Bush scored the run that gave Detroit its second straight victory over Washington, 2 to 2. Score: R H E

Washington . . . 0100001000—2 7 0 Detroit . . . 0000100101—3 9 0 Batteries: Boehling and Henry; Dauss, Main, Covalleskie, Stange and Baker.

FEDERAL LEAGUE

Brooklyn, 8; St. Louis, 9
ST. LOUIS, June 20.—Brooklyn took the third straight game from St. Louis in a circus combat, 8 to 6, here yesterday. Steve Evans' home run with bases loaded started the fun. St. Louis came back in the sixth and scored four runs off Marion. Score: R H E

Brooklyn . . . 004110002—8 12 3 St. Louis . . . 001014000—6 9 2 Batteries: Marion and Owens; Davenport, Herbert and Simon.

Kansas City, 5; Baltimore, 4
KANSAS CITY, June 20.—Packard's single, a forced out and Gilmore's double, his third base hit in the ninth, gave Kansas City a 5 to 4 win over Baltimore in yesterday's game. Score: R H E

Baltimore . . . 003000100—4 12 3 Kansas City . . . 101002001—5 11 2 Batteries: Suggs, Smith and Jacklitsch; Stone, Packard and Easterly.

NELSONS MEET OPACCOS SUNDAY

A battle royal is promised for tomorrow, when the Nelson Clothing company of North La Crosse, considered the fastest semi-pro in the city this year, run up against the Opacos of Onalaska at League park. Both teams have made creditable showings so far this year, the Nelson team winning from teams of established standing and holding the strong semi-pro team of Owatonna, Minn., to a small score.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD BY HAL SHERIDAN

Hot on the trail of the Athletics, the second-place Tigers took a 10-inning struggle from the Senators. Joe Benz of the White Sox, held the Red Sox to five hits and kept them out of the first division, Speaker's triple being one of the quintet of hits.

Cobb had a 1,000 day at bat, getting three singles and two walks out of five trips. He stole two bases.

The Macks dropped their second straight to the ex-lowly St. Louis Browns, who scored five in the first.

Pitcher Ames of the Herzogites, set a record for pitchers' foolies, getting three errors all by himself.

The Reds gave a bush league performance when Charley Herzog made his first trip to New York in the role of manager.

Tommy Leach's homer gave the Cubs a loose ten-round tray at Philadelphia.

Davenport, who kangarooed from the Cincy Reds, made his second bow with the St. Louis Feds against Brooklyn and was derricked in the fifth.

Gene Packard won a pitchers' battle for the Kansas City Feds from hurler Suggs, officiating for Baltimore.

Married at noon yesterday, Second Baseman McLarry of the Louisville A. A. team, got two home runs and a single and pushed over four runs at Kansas City.

It is hoped that the Hessian flies will soon extend to several well known fields of whiskers.

SALAMANDER STYLE IN BLOSSOM ON BOARDWALK

"Bit of Throat, Ankle and Slash of Red" Give Line on Coming Modes.

ATLANTIC CITY, May 24.—The Salamander fashion showing "a bit of the throat, a bit of the ankle and a slash of red," as Owen Johnson describes Dodo the heroine in his book "The Salamander," appeared in the Boardwalk dress parade today. Whether by design or otherwise the author has hit upon the fashion note of the coming season.

The new fashion is best described in Mr. Johnson's own words: "She wanted her dress to be different from others—her own. So she chose the Russian blouse and the fine descending line of the skirt that seemed to her to typify her own alertness of youth, the poised grace and bewitching movement of the untamed animal."

Of course there were other dress novelties—scores of them. Every woman
